INCREASE TO NAVAL FORCE IN THE AUSTRALIAN SEAS.

Copy of a Despatch from the Right Honorable Sir John S. Pakington to Governor Sir C. A. Fitz Roy.

Downing-street,
18th September, 1852.

Sir,—In consequence of the necessity for stationing a man of war at the port of Melbourne, and the difficulty of providing for this object consistently with the other demands on the vessels in the Australian Seas, it has been decided by her Majesty's Government that an additional vessel should be sent out to strengthen the Naval Force available for service in the Australian Colonies: I have to acquaint you that her Majesty's Sloop Electra is now fitting for this service, and will shortly be ready for sea.

I have &c.,
(Signed) JOHN S. PAKINGTON.

Governor Sir C. A. Fitz Roy,
&c., &c. &c.

Custom House.—Entered outwards: May 12. Maria, brig, 213 tons, Weynton; for Melbourne: Commodore, barque, 680 tons, Broadfoot, for Auckland.

The Galway Ark schooner from Melbourne is tender to the Cleopatra steamer, and has come on here to load for that vessel. The Waratah steamer was sighted off Wilson's Promontory on the 7th: the Clarendon, brig, off the Howe on the 8th: and Wild Irish Girl, off Pigeon House, on 9th instant, all hence for Melbourne.

The Camilla, for Melbourne, sailed from New Plymouth the day previous to the Tasmania.

The Harbinger left her moorings at half-past two, and proceeded down the harbour, but was obliged to anchor off Bradley's, in consequence of some of the passengers not being on board. She got under weigh again and cleared the Heads about quarter past five.

The Stadt Utrecht, from Sydney, arrived at Java on 21st February.

Newcastle Shipping.—Arrivals: May 8. Frances, 216 tons, Abbott, from Launceston; Sir William Folkes, 317 tons, from Sydney. Departure: May 6. Esther Arthur, for Melbourne, with 277 trusses hay, 255 bags bran, 35 bags maize, 20 bags flour, 154 tons coals.

The following ships are expected from California in addition to those mentioned yesterday:—Edward, barque, sailed February 21st; Jane, February 26th; Sarah Hooper, February 28th; Eagle brig, March 5th; Catherine Brown, March 7th; New Orleans (st.), March 8th; Eliza Appleton, March 10th; Orkney Lass, March 10th; and the Polly Thomas with despatch.

The Wanderer spoke the Esther Arthur off Botany, and saw the Waratah off Seal Island, on Sunday last.

In the passengers per Lord William Bentinck, for Mr. and Mrs. Scott, read Mr. and Mrs. I. Isaacs and child.

In the list of gold per Harbinger, the shipment by L. and S. Spyer is stated as 781 ounces: this is an error, and should have been 981 ounces.

The River Steamers.—We would again call attention to the scenes of confusion daily taking place on the wharf when these steamers come up from the bay. It frequently happens that three of them arrive at one time, and then commences a scene of indescribable uproar. The captain from his paddle box gives his orders to "shove the luggage ashore," and immediately the hapless immigrants and their effects are bundled on to the wharf in the most reckless manner. We witnessed one of these exhibitions yesterday, and we can say that never did we see such an utter disregard of the common charities of life as was then displayed. One lady had her leg crushed by a brutal fellow, who rolled a cask directly upon her, and another female, who was attempting to land, was nearly knocked into the river by one of the crew of the steamer. Although the steamers are bound to carry a gangway of a certain length and width, with side rails for the safe landing of passengers, yet these platforms are but seldom used, the leading principle of these gentry (the Captains of the steamers) seeming to be "land your passengers—no matter how,—and be off again to the bay." In consequence no regard is paid to either life or property, and the Government regulations are openly defied. How long is this state of things to continue? Surely a few policemen could be spared to see that our fellow countrymen are not treated like dogs on their arrival. Independent of this service they would be very useful in detecting a gang of scoundrels, who, on the arrival of the steamers board them, and enter into conversation with the passengers, pretending to give them advice; a mere pretext for more easily plundering them. A respectable female, who arrived here to join her husband, had her pocket picked yesterday, on board the Comet steamer, of £8 8s., her little all, and came ashore totally destitute. Such instances are of daily occurrence, and we would urge upon the authorities the necessity of suppressing them at once.—Melbourne Herald.

Ventilation of Ships.—To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle.—Sir,—Three vessels which arrived in Australia last September lost respectively, during the voyage thither, 89, 53, 39 passengers, and the Ticonderago, which arrived at Port Phillip in November, no less than 104. This fearful mortality has been attributed to an undue limitation of the space allowed to each emigrant, whereby a deficiency of ventilation is occasioned; but it would seem more expedient to provide sufficient and certain ventilation of the space at present allotted to each adult, than to increase it, seeing the high rate at which passages are charged. Means of perfect ventilation were long ago devised, and officially recorded in the year 1811, in consequence of a reference from the Navy Board to an individual member of it, who stated that "the mode which seemed best adapted to answer the purpose effectually is that first proposed by Dr. Hale, namely, the extraction of the foul air by means of a machine, which he calls a ventilator, really, a kind of wooden air pump, but of very simple construction, easy of repair, and requiring little power to work it." The same minute (report) goes on to say "that no contrivance has hitherto been introduced adequate to the easy and regular admission of fresh air . . . so that in some cases, while the foul air has been extracted from one part of the ship, still worse air has been drawn in from other parts." This, he said, could be avoided by the introduction of "two sets of pipes or trunks, . . having apertures opening into every close compartment; one of these sets of pipes being those subservient to the extraction of the foul air; . . . the main pipe of the other set of pipes for the conveying of fresh air into the several compartments." . . . . "As, however, the efficacy of this apparatus—however perfectly it may be contrived—with a view to the health of the crew . . . will still depend upon its being worked almost without intermission. . . . I would observe that it would be easy for such an index or tell-tale to be fixed to the valve of the ventilator as would show at any time the number of strokes which it had made." It will be readily admitted that the obtainment of the quantity of atmospheric air requisite for healthful respiration depends not on the few feet more or less allotted to an individual on board ship, but on the quality of the air furnished to the respiratory organs; hence, supposing a constant change of the air which surrounds a man, taking away the foul, and supplying its place with pure atmospheric air, all the desirable purposes of ventilation will be afforded, though the space allotted to an individual were no more than his berth. This being so, the healthfulness of between decks, or of a lower deck, evidently calls for some such artificial means of ensuring a constant sufficient change of the air, and no means of effecting the purpose seem so easy or so cheap as those above indicated. From the few details that have been furnished respecting the caloric ship Ericsson, it would seem that the principles proposed to the Navy Board for the ventilation of ships have been adopted in her, an indraught of fresh air being caused at the same time that the foul is expelled. In steamers this might be done by the steam-engine, but on board of sailing vessels it could only be effected by manual force applied to a well contrived simple air-pump. Surely there could be no difficulty in engaging at least steerage passengers to take their turns in working the ventilator: the task could not be onerous for a long voyage; nay, a spell at work so light, so beneficial to all on board, could not but break agreeably the monotony of a life otherwise without employment. In a crowded ship, however, some additional contrivance seems desirable for spreading the air as it enters, so as to avoid its coming in a cold current upon any one. This might be effected by piercing the pipes or trunks with holes, small at the entrance end, larger and larger as the pipe became more remote. Or the purpose might be attained without any fresh air-pipes, simply by having a false ceiling to part of the deck or decks, that ceiling perforated in like manner with pipes, the fresh air being admitted between the false and true ceilings. True, measures have of late years been introduced for the better ventilation of ships, but in a crowded one no contrivance that is effectual in calm weather; whereas, by Dr. Hale's invention, the extraction of foul air is at all times certain; the "minute" of 1811 assures a supply of fresh air in place of the foul extracted; and by the subsequent proposal means are recommended of spreading the fresh air so that it may not incommode any passenger.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant, M. S. B.

'Sworn to no Master, of no Sect am I.'

SIR JOHN PAKINGTON'S DESPATCH.

While the name of Grey will long be associated in the memory of the Australian colonists with a sense of injustice and oppression, the names of Pakington and Newcastle will ever be remembered with gratitude and pride. For while the first of these Ministers, after witnessing for a long series of years our arduous struggles in quest of what we declared to be our social and political rights, pertinaciously resisted and decried our demands, his successors, after only a few weeks' consideration, have conceded to us every thing we wished, from the abolition of transportation to the amplest powers of self-government. And the spirit in which the concession is made adds inexpressibly to its value. There is no reluctance, no hesitancy, no equivocation. All is clear, frank, and cordial. Sir John Pakington's despatch of the 15th December, adopted by the present Ministry as their own, is the first communication of the kind that ever found its way to Australia from the Downing-street bureau—the first in which the colonists were treated with perfect confidence; the first in which their claims were treated with hearty and entire respect, and recognised without quibble or demur.

It is true, the communication was dictated by a consideration of the extraordinary changes which had taken place in our circumstances. This is frankly acknowledged at the outset. Her Majesty's Government are sensible, says the despatch, "that they have now to consider the prayer of the petition thus laid before Her Majesty with reference to a state of affairs which has no parallel in history, and which must, in all human probability, stimulate the advance of population, wealth, and material prosperity, with a rapidity alike unparallelled." But the state of affairs thus adduced as the grand reason for bowing to our demands existed a year or more before Earl Grey went out of office; and yet not one step did that noble lord take in the direction so boldly taken by his successor. Not an inch did he advance either towards an enlargement of our political powers, or towards our deliverance from the infamy and contamination of convictism. The despatch is virtually the strongest censure that could have been pronounced upon his lordship's conduct.

Nor is the surprising change in our circumstances the only fact which has weighed with the Home Government in thus liberally dealing with us. The general order and good conduct of the multitudes attracted to our gold fields, and the evidence afforded by the proceedings of our Legislative Council of our fitness to regulate our own affairs, are expressly referred to as having induced Ministers to feel that it has become more urgently necessary than heretofore to place full powers of self-government in our hands. A recognition of our rights is one good thing; an acknowledgment that we have proved ourselves fit for their unrestricted exercise is a still better.

The first of our alleged grievances noticed in the despatch is that of patronage. The Petition affirms that "offices of trust and emolument should be conferred only on the settled inabitants, the office of Governor alone excepted"—a narrow-minded exclusiveness which we protested against at the time, and which Sir John Pakington justly observes "could not be adopted without great prejudice to the public service." Whatever may have been the abuses of Ministerial patronage in former times—and we well remember not a few of them,—the practice of late years has been to leave patronage where the Council say it ought to be, in the hands of the local Government. And for our own part, we have no fear of this practice being disturbed hereafter.

As to the claim of the Petition to the entire control of the Customs Department, the Home Government believe it has been to a considerable extent met by Lord Grey's despatches of last year; but if more be wanted, they declare their readiness to give fair consideration to any representations or proposals which the Legislature of the colony may hereafter make with respect to it.

On the subject of local legislation, the Petition sets out "that plenary powers of legislation should be conferred upon and exercised by the Colonial Legislature for the time being; and that no bills should be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, unless they affect the prerogatives of the Crown or the general interests of the empire." On this head the despatch states that Her Majesty's Government have no indisposition to meet the views of the Council if any practicable mode can be devised of distinguishing local from imperial subjects of legislation. In some rare cases such distinctions may be difficult, but generally they are so obvious as not to admit of a doubt. We do not think it possible, either for the Imperial Parliament or the Colonial Legislature, to lay down such a definition of what is imperial and what local as should meet all cases. Discretion must be vested somewhere, and we do not see where it could be more safely reposed than in the Governor and Executive Council, assisted with the responsible advice of their law officers.

Having disposed of the third, fourth, and fifth grounds of complaint enumerated in the Petition, the despatch proceeds to notice the first and second. These are as follows:—

"1st. That the Imperial Parliament has not, nor of right ought to have, any power to tax the people of this colony, or to appropriate any of the moneys levied by the authority of the colonial legislature; that this power can only be lawfully exercised by the colonial legislature; and that the Imperial Parliament has solemnly disclaimed this power by the 18th George III., cap. 12, sec. 1, which Act remains unrepealed.

"2nd. That the revenue arising from the public lands, derived as it is mainly from the value imparted to them by the labour and capital of the people of this colony, is as much their property as the Ordinary Revenue, and ought, therefore, to be subject only to the like control and appropriation."

On both of these points, says the despatch, "Her Majesty's Government are ready to accede to the wishes of the Council and of the colony in a spirit of entire confidence." The present Government do, indeed, like that of which Lord Grey was a member, deny the right of the local Legislature to the control of the Land Revenue; but then, unlike Lord Grey, they cheerfully concede that control on the ground of expediency. Many of our readers will remember that, in advocating our claim to the territorial administration, this is the ground upon which we have always been content to take our stand; and upon this ground, without wasting words about the knotty subject of abstract rights, the colonists will thankfully accept the large surrender now made, and made gracefully and handsomely, by Her Majesty's Government. We say a large surrender, for such it is, including the entire Crown Land administration, from the terms on which land shall be disposed of, to the purposes to which its proceeds shall be applied. "They are bound to add," the despatch candidly says, "that it appears to them matter of justice, as well as expediency, that concessions on so important a subject which have been made for some time to the principal North American Colonies, and recently to New Zealand, should no longer be withheld from New South Wales."

The other portions of the despatch will occupy another article.

THE CONSTITUTION OF CANADA.

We present our readers with an abstract of the provisions of the Act of Parliament passed on the 23rd July, 1840, (3 and 4 Victoria, cap. 35,) entitled, "An Act to re-unite the Provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, and for the government of Canada."

The recent despatch from the Secretary of State, granting the prayer of the Legislative Council that a Constitution similar in its outline to that of Canada might be conferred upon this colony, renders the subject of the Canadian institutions of unusual and pressing interest.

The preamble of the Act declares the expediency of re-uniting the two provinces of Upper and Lower Canada and by the first clause the Queen is empowered to declare by proclamation that the said provinces shall form one province, &c.

The 2nd clause repeals certain acts of George III. and Victoria, relating to the government of the separate provinces.

By the 3rd clause it is provided that the Legislature of the Province of Canada shall consist of one Legislative Council and one Assembly, with full power to make laws for the peace, welfare, and good government of the Province, such laws not being repugnant to this Act, nor to any parts of former Acts remaining unrepealed.

The 4th clause empowers the Governor under the great seal of the Province, in the name of her Majesty, to summon to the said Legislative Council such persons, not being fewer than twenty, as her Majesty shall think fit, and from time to time to add any other person to the said Council: Provided that every person so summoned shall be of full legal age, (21 years) a natural born subject of the Crown, or naturalized by Act of Parliament, of the former Legislature of either Province, or of the new Legislature.

The 5th clause enacts that all persons summoned to the Legislative Council shall hold their seats for life, subject, however (by the following clauses), to voluntary resignation; or to absence without leave during two sessions; or to any act of naturalisation in any foreign state; or to bankruptcy, public default, treason, or felony, or any infamous crime: in which cases the seat of such persons in council shall become vacant. The Legislative Council to be the judge of the occurrence of such vacancy, an appeal from the member to the Queen in Council being reserved.

The 9th clause confers upon the Governor the right of appointing and removing the Speaker of the Legislative Council by an instrument under the great seal.

The 10th clause fixes the quorum at 10, including the Speaker, and gives the Speaker a casting vote.

The 11th clause provides for the summoning of the Legislative Assembly.

The 12th clause enacts that the parts of the province hitherto known shall be represented in the Legislative Assembly by an equal number of members.

The 13 following clauses, 13 to 25, provide for the division of the province into electoral districts; for the appointment of returning officers by the Governor; for the issue of writs of election; and the places and time of holding elections.

The 26th clause empowers the new Legislature to alter the system of representation, and the apportionment of representatives, &c., provided that no Act for this purpose shall be presented to the Governor for the approval of the Crown which shall not have been passed by two-thirds of the Legislative Assembly, respectively; such fact to be certified by addresses from either house to the Governor.

The 27th clause continues in force all election laws then existing until altered by the new Legislature.

The 28th clause fixes the property qualification of members of the Legislative Assembly at five hundred pounds, in lands or tenements held in fief or in roture.

The 29th clause applies the penalties of perjury to false declarations of qualification.

By the 30th clause it is enacted that the Governor shall have power to fix the time and place of meeting of the Legislature at his discretion.

By the 31st clause, the duration of the Legislative Assembly is fixed at four years, unless sooner dissolved by the Governor; and a session of the Provincial Parliament is to be held once every year.

By the 33rd clause, the Legislative Assembly is empowered to elect a Speaker, removable by vote of the Assembly.

The quorum of the Assembly is fixed at twenty. (The number of members of the Assembly is not given in the Act, and we have no means of ascertaining it, inasmuch as the electoral divisions of the two provinces are in some respects maintained, and we have not access to the older Acts.)

By subsequent clauses power is given to the Governor to assent to Bills in the name of the Queen; but within two years of such assent the Queen in Council may disallow such Act. Acts reserved by the Governor for the signification of the Queen's assent shall have no force or authority unless such assent shall have been obtained within two years.

The 40th clause defines the authority of the Governor.

The 41st directs that all proceedings and records of the Government and Houses shall be in English only.

By the 42nd clause it is provided that any Bills affecting the settlements of lands for ecclesiastical purposes, or the discipline of the established church, or the Queen's prerogative of granting waste lands within the Province, shall be laid before both Houses of the Imperial Parliament before the Queen may assent to them; and if either House of Parliament addresses the Queen to withhold her assent, it shall not be lawful for such assent to be given.

The 43rd clause refers to colonial taxation. It recites the 18th George III, c. 12, commonly known as the Declaratory Act, but reserves to the Imperial Government the right of establishing Regulations and Prohibitions, and levying duties for the regulation of Navigation or of Commerce between the Province of Canada and any other province of the empire, or any foreign state, provided that the net produce of such duties shall be applied by and with the advice and consent of the Provincial Legislature, for the sole use and benefit of the Province.

The 44th clause relates to the establishment of Courts of Justice, &c.

The next five clauses relate only to matters of detail.

By the 50th clause it is enacted that all the revenues of the province shall form one consolidated fund.

The fifty-second clause of the Act reserves a schedule of £75,000, of which £45,000 is permanently appropriated to the maintenance of the Governor and judicial establishments, and £30,000 appropriated during Her Majesty's life, and for five years after her demise, for certain civil establishments. But by a subsequent Act of Parliament, 10 and 11 Vic., cap. 71, passed on the 22nd July, 1847, the Queen was authorized to assent to an Act of the Canadian Legislature wherein these schedules are repealed, and a civil list is spontaneously granted to Her Majesty, the right of the Canadian people alone to grant such civil list being expressly asserted, and acknowledged by the Imperial Government. The amounts voted in this civil list are respectively £34,638 15s. 4d. for the Government and judicial establishments, and £39,245 16s. for civil establishments. Provision is however made for a reduction in most of the salaries after the vacation of office by the then incumbents.

By the 54th section the hereditary revenues of the Crown are surrendered to the Legislature, and made over to the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

There are other clauses in the Act, but they refer to matters of detail, not immediately affecting the powers of the new Legislature.

COUNCIL PAPERS.

THE VACCINE INSTITUTION.

Vaccine Institution,
20th February, 1853.

Sir,—I have the honor to report, for the information of His Excellency the Governor General, the details of my proceedings during the last year.

During the illness of the late Dr Savage the supply of vaccine lymph had become entirely exhausted, and for more than a month I was unable to vaccinate successfully a single child, the lymph in my possession proving upon trial inert. Having, at length, obtained a good supply, I was in a position to meet the public anxiety, and during the last four months of the year 1852, I vaccinated successfully five hundred persons.

I have the honor further to report that I sent large supplies to the medical men in Sydney, the interior, and the colony of Victoria and New Zealand, &c.

I am happy to have it in my power to report that I still keep a large supply of vaccine lymph, and I continue to furnish it as opportunities offer, or as it may be required, to the neighbouring colonies, the medical practitioners, the benevolent societies and infirmaries in New South Wales; and, judging from the numerous applications by medical men in the interior and Sydney, I infer that vaccination has been practised very extensively.

I have the honour to submit the following detail of my operations from the period of my appointment in August, 1852, to the 31st December of the same year:—

Children under two years of age,
Males	95
Females	112
Total	257
Children from two to ten years,—
Males	127
Females	130
Total	267
Youths above ten and under twenty,—
Males	15
Females	16
Total	31
Adult persons,—
Male	1
Females	4
Total	5
Total number	500

I have supplied one hundred and forty-five medical men with vaccine lymph, and it is with much pleasure that I take this opportunity to acknowledge their ready co-operation in assisting me to carry out the benevolent objects with which the vaccine institution was established.

I have, &c.,
JOHN YATES RUTTER,
Superintendent Vaccine Institution.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

BOTANIC GARDENS.

Letter from the Director of the Botanic Gardens to the Colonial Secretary.

Botanic Gardens, Sydney,
4th April, 1853.

Sir,—I do myself the honour to forward, for the information of his Excellency the Governor General, the following report of this establishment, and the results of my labour during the past year.

In my last report of this kind, I ventured to draw attention to the generally improved aspect of the grounds, mainly owing to the many alterations which had been made in former years; and although other improvements have since been carried into effect, tending still more to beautify the scenery of the garden, yet none of these have been of that magnitude or importance to demand especial notice. Much, however, still requires to be done in this way, before the gardens can be considered laid out to the best advantage, either as regards its botanical character or as a place of resort for the information and rational amusement of the public; but so long as the present high price of labour, and the difficulty of procuring the services of skilled workmen continue, I do not feel myself justified in recommending any new works of importance to be entered upon, which can possibly be avoided.

During the past season my attention has been principally directed to carrying out to a greater extent than formerly, the botanical arrangement of trees and shrubs, by grouping together those which have the same natural affinities. With this object in view, a square in the Upper Garden, which formerly contained vine plants, is now occupied by genera and species, illustrating the orders of Caprifoliaceæ and Araliaceæ,—plants which were previously to be found growing in various parts of the grounds, without arrangements or system. In a similar manner, in several parts of the eastern side of the Lower Garden, beds have been formed and planted with types of as many natural families as were readily procurable of the Corolliflorie and Monochlamydeæ, particularly those of Solanaceæ, Apocynaceæ, Scrophulariaceæ, Sapotaceæ, Lauraceæ, and Euphorbiaceæ; and whilst by this means the the botanical character of the establishment is advanced, its ornamental appearance will be much improved as the trees grow up.

In the early part of last autumn, I was induced, by way of experiment, to plant out, in sheltered situations, some of the most interesting trees collected by me among the islands of the Western Pacific; and the result has been that, although many of those indigenous to the New Hebrides Group perished during the winter, yet none of the New Caledonian plants appeared to suffer in the slightest degree, either from the cold of the winter, or from the extreme dry heat of the past summer, but, on the contrary, are now growing most luxuriantly. Amongst those referred to may be mentioned the new species of Dammara or Kaurie trees, and several different kinds of Podocarpus and Grevillea; and as the former of these constitute the most lofty trees of the countries which they inhabit, and produce most valuable timber, their introduction to this colony may ultimately become of some importance, it being now an established fact that with care and in suitable situations they may be successfully cultivated.

My excursion during the early part of the spring of last year, through a portion of the interior, enabled me to collect the seeds of many plants new to the collection; but I regret to state that, owing to drought, and the want of a proper supply of water, numbers of the young plants raised from these seeds have died; and to the same cause may be ascribed the loss of nearly all the seedlings of the Australian grasses referred to in my last report, and of many other rare plants.

With the means placed at my disposal, I have succeeded in forming the nucleus of a Public Botanic Library, and although yet in its infancy, this addition to the establishment has been eagerly taken advantage of by those interested in the science. By a small annual outlay the Library may be supported so as to render it alike useful to myself, and the community, as a means of general reference. The books already procured, are—viz.: Lindley's Vegetable Kingdom, ditto Elements of Botany, ditto Flora Medica, Loudon's Hortus Britannicus, Henfrey's Physiological Botany, Hooker's Companion to the Botanical Magazine, Ditto Botanical Miscellany, Decandolle's Vegetable Organography, Don's General System of Botany, Bennet's Outlines of Botany, Richard's Elements of Botany, Thornton's Elements of Botany, Schleiden's Principles of Botany, Brown's Prodromus Floræ Novæ Hollandiæ, Kunth's Enumeratio Plantarum, Decandolle and Sprengel's Philosophy of Plants, Withering's British Plants, Decandolle's Prodromus Regni Vegetabilis, Sprengel's Genera Plantarum, Ditto Systema Plantarum, Griffiths' Notulæ ad Plantas Asiaticus, ditto Palms of British East India, Endlicher's Genera Plantarum, Liebeg's Letters on Chemistry, Davy's Agricultural Chemistry, Donaldson's Treatise on Manures and British Grapes. Many of the works, being of an elementary description, will be of great assistance to those commencing the study of Botany, and particularly to those who may attend my annual course of lectures on that science. Through the kindness of Dr. Madden, of the Honorable East India Company's Service, who presented a large collection of seeds gathered by himself and friends among the Himalaya ranges, and other parts of India, important additions have been made to the collection of Conifers, of plants used in the arts and manufactures, and for medicinal purposes; but by far a greater number than now survive of the plants raised from these seeds perished in consequence of being too tender to bear exposure in this climate during the colder seasons; losses of this kind must continue to be inevitable, and thus the public remain strangers to many of the most useful and singular forms of tropical vegetation, unless some provision is made for their suitable protection, which might be accomplished at a trifling expense, by the erection of neat glass rooted weatherboard sheds; and as the absence of these valuable adjuncts has hitherto deprived the garden of much of its utility and interest, I would again most respectfully venture to draw the attention of his Excellency to the desirableness of a sum being placed upon the estimates to provide the required accommodation.

I have now only to refer to the Appendix, containing a statement of the several interchanges of plants and seeds which have been made since the date of my last report, by which it will be observed that I have endeavoured to enter into an exchange of plants with various European Continental Botanical Establishments, and should these attempts be reciprocated, a considerable augmentation of plants will acrue to our present collection.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
CHARLES MOORE, Director.

The Honorable the Colonial Secretary.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENT COURT.

THURSDAY.

Before S. F. Milford, Esq., Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates

In the estate of Charles Frederick Gorton, a certificate meeting was held. The form of law having been complied with, and no grounds of opposition having been filed, the certificate was granted.

MEETING TO DAY.

In the estate of William Bucknell, an adjourned special meeting, at 11 o'clock.

LICENSING MEETING.

THURSDAY.

Present—The Police Magistrate, (in the chair), the Superintendent of Police, the Port Officer, the Water Police Magistrate, Mr. T. B. Daniell, Captain Wingate, Mr. Towns, Mr. Darley, Mr. Ebsworth, and Mr. Murnin.

In the matter of Ann Dunn's application, the Superintendent of Police, after the inquiry made and evidence given on a previous day, gave instructions for the withdrawal of the objection which had been filed. The license was now granted.

Cornelius Murray, of the Cheshire Cheese, Sussex-street, was opposed by John Morris, owner of the house, and residing next door, on the ground that the house was conducted in a disorderly and improper manner. Mr. Morris deposed that his family was subjected to much annoyance, night and day, by the fighting and quarrelling of drunken men and women frequenting Murray's house; Sunday was no more regarded than any other day. The license was refused.

John Roden, Packet Inn, Miller's-point. This application was opposed by Messrs. Freill, Courtney, Malcolm, Christie, Towns, Manson, Ferguson, Henry Moore, Comrie, Grylls, and others, residents at Victoria-terrace, Miller's Point, on the ground that a licensed house in that place was not required, and would be a nuisance rather than an accommodation to the neighbourhood. Mr. Johnson appeared in support of the objection, and Mr. Nichols in support of the applicant. Mr. George Talbot deposed that applicant's house was situate in a private road or lane leading from Argyle-street down to the wharves of Messrs. Towns, Moore, Flood, &c., which was so narrow, especially near applicant's house, that two drays could not pass; there were five or six licensed houses within a stone's throw. Cross-examined: There is a considerable traffic up and down the lane, which is much increased when a mail steamer is at Moore's wharf; the lane is without light of any kind at night, and is a very convenient sort of place to favour the escape of a thief; a light would be a great convenience to the lane. Mr. Malcolm and Mr. Towns gave similar evidence. Mr. Nichols handed in a counter statement, signed by seven or eight residents in the neighbourhood, in favour of the applicant receiving a license. Inspector M'Cook gave evidence that if only for the sake of the light which a publican would have to keep burning, a licensed house would be an accommodation, as well as facilitate the operations of the police. The majority of the magistrates (Messrs. Darley, Ebsworth, and Murnin) voted against the license, and it was refused; Messrs. Dowling and Brenan expressed themselves in favour of the applicant.

Nothing else was done worthy of particular notice.

Adjourned until noon of Friday (this day.)

The Theatre.—His Excellency the Governor of Singapore, (Colonel Butterworth) honoured the performances at the Victoria with his presence on Wednesday evening. There was rather a thin attendance on the occasion, owing no doubt to the prevailing epidemic. His Excellency appeared pleased with the entertainments.

The Australian Museum.—The Governor-General has sent down a Bill "to incorporate and endow the Sydney Museum." The body corporate is to consist of twenty-four trustees, twelve of whom are to be called official trustees, and consist of the following public officers for the time being, that is to say—the Chief Justice, the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney General, the Colonial Treasurer, the Auditor General, the Speaker of the Legislative Council, the Solicitor General, the Collector of Customs, the Surveyor General, the Colonial Architect, the President of the Colonial Medical Board, and a trustee to be named by the Governor, and to be called the Crown trustee; and the other twelve trustees, who shall be called elective trustees, shall consist at first of the following persons, being the members of the present Committee for the management of the said Museum, that is to say—Arthur A'Beckett, Esq., George Bennett, Esq., William Branthwaite Clarke, Clerk, Phillip Parker King, Captain R.N., Robert Lethbridge King, Clerk, William Macarthur, Esq., William Sharpe Macleay, Esq., George Macleay, Esq., James Smith, Esq., Doctor of Medicine, George Edward Turner, Clerk, George Witt, Esq., Doctor of Medicine. All vacancies which may occur by death, resignation, or otherwise, among the aforesaid twelve "elective trustees" shall be filled up as they may occur by the election of such other fit and proper persons as the remaining members of the aforesaid corporate body shall, at meetings duly to be convened for that purpose, elect to fill up such vacancies. This body is to have the entire management of the institution, and it is proposed to grant them an endowment from the General Revenue of £1000 per annum.

Destruction of Property.—Mr. Pete Dean, of Market-street, yesterday appeared before the Bench (the Mayor, the Police Magistrate, and Mr. Daniels) to answer an information filed by Mr. B. S. Mountcastle, for having on Sunday last maliciously destroyed by cutting a water pipe, the property of complainant, and of the value of 20s. The parties are next door neighbours, and with others have a common right of way up a lane from Market-street; the pipe in question is, or was, situated on a piece of land claimed by Dean as a portion of the premises for which he pays rent. Mr. Roberts, for defendant, submitted that the matter before the Court involved a question of disputed rights, upon which their worships had no right to express an opinion, and therefore should be dismissed as beyond their jurisdiction. Their worships thought differently, and sentenced defendant to pay the amount of damage, with 4s. 6d. costs.

Escape at Burrowa.—On the 2nd instant, a man named Fogarty, who had been apprehended on suspicion of having been concerned in the robbery at the Calabash Station, and in the outrage at Marengo on the night of the 13th ult. made his escape from Constable James, of the Binalong, who had him in custody. On the following day Fogarty was seen on the Pudman River, in the Yass district. Fogarty is described as "an Irishman, county Tipperary, about 5 feet 6 inches high, full faced." The police have custody of two black or dark brown horses, each about 15 hands, and 6 years off, together with a saddle and a bridle, both nearly new. Fogarty is suspected of having stolen them. Constable James has been dismissed the force for allowing the man to escape.

Cutting the Knot.—We have not seen a copy of Dr. Lang's pamphlet on Australian Independence, but an English newspaper gives the following as a summary of the argument: "The time has come when it will be most for the advantage both of the mother country and the colony to grant full and complete independence to the British settlements in Eastern Australia. To this end it is proposed that an Act of Parliament should at once be passed constituting seven colonies or provinces of Eastern Australia, and providing for the establishment of a House of Assembly and a Senate in each province, the former to be elected by the colonists, the latter by the House of Assembly. To these local legislatures should be surrendered all revenues arising within the particular province (except those arising from the Waste Lands). Having thus provided for the local government of each province, the Constitutive Act should establish a general or national government for the whole Australian Union, consisting of a President, Senate, and House of Representatives—in short, a Parliament or Congress having control over all foreign relations, the public lands, the post-office; in fact, all matters of strictly national concernment. To this Act, or Treaty of Independence, one condition should be annexed by the mother country—viz., that half the proceeds of the sales of waste lands throughout the Union should annually be appropriated for the purpose of promoting emigration from Great Britain and Ireland."

Horse Stealing.—At Bowning, on the 4th instant, a brown horse was stolen from the premises of Mr. Thomas Davidson.—At Vale Creek, near Bathurst, on the 5th instant, a dark brown mare was stolen from the premises of Mrs. Mary Roberts.

Purkis and Lambert sell this day, at the Mart, at half-past 10 o'clock, single and double guns; at 11 o'clock, a superb lot of gold, silver, and plated jewellery, of all kinds.

We are requested by Mr. Dean to call the attention of the trade and buyers for the out-ports to the continuation of his sales by auction, which will commence precisely at 11 o'clock, with a most superb lot of new goods, in ladies' mantles, French merinoes, coloured Coburgs, blankets, prints, and a large quantity of slop clothing.

We are requested by Mr. Newton to direct attention to his sale, this day, of the cargo of the Bangalore, which, in consequence of the number of lots, will commence at 11 o'clock precisely.

We are requested to remind the public that R. Muriel sells, this day, at 10 o'clock, surplus stores, on Campbell's Wharf; and at 11, household furniture, at the residence of Mr. Staples, Rushcutter's Bay.

IMPORTANT AUCTION.

A portion of the

FOSTERVILLE ESTATE,

Situated between the Sheriff's Gardens and the mansion house and grounds of Mrs. John Terry Hughes; well known as the valuable property of John Smith, Esq., as surveyed and subdivided by Mr. Armstrong, into building portions, will be let

BY PUBLIC AUCTION, BY

JOHN G. COHEN, on WEDNESDAY, May, 18, at his Rooms, 490, George-street, at 12 o'clock precisely, Fosterville realises as far as situation goes, all that possibly can be desired by any person, whatever his occupation or business may be, in the city. It is airy, dry, and of convenient access on all sides.

From the numerous applications daily made, the proprietor has determined to submit that portion of the estate, sections 7 and 8, which has been applied for, and leaving it, at this present time to public competition, the wishes of all will be met; and has determined to let off the whole on long and favourable leases, divided into convenient economical sized building allotments, of various sizes, to accommodate

ALL CLASSES OF BUYERS.

Great attention has been bestowed in connecting the whole neighbourhood one with another, by means of streets, and the plan by Mr. Armstrong has admirably projected the continuation of Gipps-street, directly to the Riley Estate, thence the passenger finds a near way to the South Head Road, New Court House, Woolloomooloo, and Darlinghurst; and the projected of the railway is in a direct line with this portion of the estate of Fosterville, now submitted to public competition, being opposite the continuation of Campbell and Gipps streets, and a direct line of Gipps-street, and which must daily increase the value of property in this locality.

The builder and mechanic may advisedly consider that this property is the only one left for public competition at the lower end of Elizabeth-street South, near the Market and George-street.

This portion of the property is the only direct line of traffic to the Surry Hills.

PARTICULARS OF THE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

Section 7. Situation.—On the west by Macquarie-street; north by boundary fence of the property; south by Campbell-street prolonged. Frontages to Macquarie-street, say 33 feet to 59; in Campbell-street they are 33 to 100 feet.

Section 8. Situation—North-west corner of the property, and is bounded east by Macquarie-street, prolonged; south by Campbell-street prolonged; west by Foster-street. These allotments vary, in the above different streets, in their frontages, from thirty-three to eight-one feet.

☛ The streets on this property run parallel with those on the Riley Estate.

There is no doubt that this is one of the most important properties in the city of Sydney, and that now may be made available. The daily increase of our population requires a situation such as this to afford shelter to the thousands who will emigrate to these shores. Parties who may lease these allotments will be enabled to put up buildings in accordance with their means, and they will not be restricted to any particular class or style. There can be but one opinion as regards this property, in its locality being within the city of Sydney, and one of the most healthful situations.

The Sale will comprise

and will be let on 21 years lease, on the most liberal conditions.

NOTE.—The depths throughout are proportionate, and a back entrance is introduced in each section, so as to leave available the whole line of frontage for the house, without any necessity for carriage entrance, or taking away any portion for side passages.

Further particulars can be obtained at the Rooms of the Auctioneer, where the plan of the property can be seen, or of the proprietor, JOHN SMITH, Esq., Solicitor, O'Connell-street. 4945

"TIKI TIKI," NEW ZEALAND,

A most valuable Block of Land, situate in Coromandel Harbour, Frith of the Thames, opposite Auckland, New Zealand.

MR. MORT has received instructions from Cornelius Prout, Esq., to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, May 17, at 11 o'clock,

A very valuable block of land, situate in Coromandel Harbour, New Zealand, being part of, and adjoining to, the now known to exist in that locality, independent of which, the grant has natural boundaries—the waters of Coromandel Harbour on the one side, and in the rear a fresh water stream.

It was selected in 1839, by a relative of the proprietor, long resident in New Zealand, and purchased from the natives, "Horeta" (commonly known as "Hook-nose"), and his sons, from whom the title is deduced, and which is confirmed by the Government.

☛ This is beyond doubt a capital opportunity to become the purchaser of one of the finest tracts of land in this beautiful country; the fertility of the soil is surpassing wonderful, and its natural advantages are very great.

It is admirably adapted for a township, which the requirements of this important and rising harbour demand. The harbour is safe and secure, and great facilities exist for the erection of wharves and stores on the shores, which have deep water within a few yards. Those who invest their capital in the purchase of this truly beautiful and favoured spot will find it most profitable.

CITY WHARF PROPERTY.

Also,

BLOCK OF LAND IN KENT-STREET.

Titles unexceptionable.

MR. MORT has received instructions from the proprietor, Mr. Matthew Bryce, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY. 20th May, at 11 o'clock,

A Block of Land in Kent-street North, coming up to Miller's Road, and extending back to a lane separating it from the wharf property hereunder mentioned.

The land is subdivided into

TEN ALLOTMENTS,

having frontages of about 20 feet to Kent-street, by depths of 66 feet or thereabouts.

N.B.—Two of the allotments have their frontages to Miller's Road, one of course being a corner allotment and of great value. The land is nearly opposite the Catholic School and Watch House, being on the west side of Kent-street.

After which,

In one Lot, a most valuable WHARF PROPERTY, situate at the rear of the above land, with large frontage to the waters of Cockle Bay, and containing about THREE-QUARTERS OF AN ACRE.

It is shown upon the plan as divided in three lots, and has access from Miller's Road.

TWO STONE COTTAGES

And

are erected upon this block of land.

☛ This Property is eminently valuable for the erection of stores, and making of a first-rate wharf. The small bay formed by the frontage has capital ground, and has been selected as the most desirable spot for carrying on the repairs of the English steamers.

This is unquestionably a first-class investment. The value of city wharfages and lands so situated increasing daily.

For particulars of title apply to Messrs. Norton, Son, and Barker.

Plan of the propery will be seen at the Rooms. Terms, cash.

FOUR ELIGIBLE ALLOTMENTS, TARBAN CREEK.

MR. MORT is instructed to sell at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, the 27th May, at 11 o'clock, Four large Building Allotments, situate at Tarban Creek, Parramatta River.

LOT 1

Possesses river frontage, immediately opposite to the Lunatic Asylum, is situate between the allotments of Messrs. Wheeler and Helliwell, having a depth of 208 feet, more or less, and a frontage to George-street, of 186 feet.

LOTS 2, 3, and 4,

On the opposite side of George-street, having frontages thereto of about 130 feet, with depths varying from 174 to 239 feet, and abut upon King-street, to which they have each frontages of about 115 feet.

The situation of these allotments is delightful, and being close to the Ferry, where the steamers stop to land their passengers, have attached to them a considerable value; the distance from Sydney is nothing, and will be accomplished in a much shorter time than at present when the new boats are put on the river, and Tarban Creek will be then as speedily approached as any other suburbs of the city now are.

A plan on view at Mr. Mort's.

THE CLYDE WHARF.

Eligible Investment. City Property, with water frontage to Darling Harbour.

MR. MORT has been instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, the first day of June, at eleven o'clock,

Two adjoining Allotments of Land situated at the termination of Clyde and Wentworth streets with Darling Harbour, being eligible sites for wharves.

From the central situation of these allotments they are worth the attention of capitalists who are desirous of obtaining waterside premises in the vicinity of the shipping of Darling Harbour, and by extending the allotments to the deep water immediately in front, sufficient in depth to admit of first-class vessels and steamers coming alongside, wharves of great value may be obtained. They are also well situated for produce wharves and for coal depôts, both for the supply of steam vessels and the inhabitants of the city; and when the cut is completed from the Queen's Wharf their value must be greatly enhanced by the short and direct communication with George-street and the most central part of the city. Intending purchasers have only to view the premises to satisfy themselves of their great prospective value in this rising market.

The purchaser shall take the same upon the title under which it is now held by the vendor, under a conveyance dated 22nd March, 18[illegible], and which describes the premises as follows:

"All that piece or parcel of land situate at Miller's Point, Darling Harbour, in the city of Sydney in the colony of New South Wales, being part of Arthur Martin's grant, bounded towards the north by land of Edward Hunt fifty-five feet, towards the west by Wentworth-street seventy feet, towards the east by property formerly of Alexander Brodie Spark feet, and towards the south by the waters of Darling Harbour aforesaid, which said piece of land is marked A in the map or plan drawn at the foot of these presents."

"And also all that piece or parcel of land situate in Clyde-street in the city of Sydney aforesaid, bounded on the north by premises of Mary Ross; on the east by Clyde-street aforesaid thirty-three feet; and on the south-west by the waters of Darling Harbour aforesaid, and which said last mentioned piece of land is marked B in the said map or plan."

All the title deeds relating to the property, and plans of the allotments, may be inspected at the Offices of Messrs. Rogers and Spain, Solicitors, George-street, at any time previous to the sale.
